RE: Durham-Orange Light Rail Project

Dear Chair Reckhow and Members of the GoTriangle Board of Directors:

The undersigned organizations from the Duke University, Durham County, Orange County, and statewide environmental communities have authorized this letter to the GoTriangle Board to ask your continued support for the Durham-Orange Light Rail Project (DOLRT).

We find the recent failure of Duke University President Vince Price to support the rail project to be deeply troubling and without any basis in fact. The excuses offered by the University's administration about patient safety and hospital operations cannot hide the fact that GoTriangle's staff has offered substantial and reasonable ways to address all of Duke's concerns.

We urge you to direct GoTriangle's staff to continue to pursue all reasonable options for moving the light rail project forward to a federal grant and construction. We all know that the project will mean significant new job opportunities and economic development for many years to come. It will also provide affordable transportation to all residents and complement the large commitments that we are making to affordable housing. Importantly, the DOLRT will be a vital link in a rail system that will tie our region together and serve as the backbone of a robust public transportation system.

This rail project is simply too important to our communities to allow a single private landowner to kill it. In the event that you find there are no ways for the DOLRT to move forward, we ask that you strongly consider ways to recover the large investment made by our local communities from Duke University in reliance on their prior statements and agreements. Our organizations stand ready to support and assist your efforts to continue development of the light rail project going forward, and we appreciate all that your Board and staff have done to bring the project to this point.
